Before LOKEN, FAGG, and HANSEN, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM.

Jay L. Meyer appeals the judgment of the district court upholding the Social Security Commissioner's final decision denying Meyer's 1990 application for supplemental security income benefits. We reject Meyer's contention that the district court would have ruled in Meyer's favor if it had been provided with certain new evidence. The new evidence--medical examinations from 1997 and 1998 that do not pertain to Meyer's condition before November 1994--is not material to the district court's review or our review of the administrative law judge's November 1994 decision.

Having carefully reviewed the record and the parties' briefs, we find substantial evidence supports the Commissioner's decision. We affirm the district court and deny as moot the Commissioner's motion to respond to Meyer's reply brief. See 8th Cir. R. 47B.
