Before COLLOTON, KELLY, and GRASZ, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM.

Thomas Drumgold, II appeals after the district court¹ revoked his supervised release and sentenced him to a term of 12 months and 1 day in prison, followed by 24 months of supervised release. His counsel has moved to withdraw and filed a brief arguing that the sentence is substantively unreasonable.

Upon careful review, to conform to the statutory maximum punishment, we order the judgment amended as follows: Drumgold's revocation prison sentence remains 12 months and 1 day, but his term of supervised release will be 24 months minus 1 day. See 18 U.S.C. § 3583(h). We affirm the judgment in all other respects. Drumgold's sentence was not unreasonable, as there is no indication that the district court overlooked a relevant factor, gave significant weight to an improper or irrelevant factor, or committed a clear error of judgment in weighing the relevant factors. See United States v. Larison, 432 F.3d 921, 922-23 (8th Cir. 2006); see also United States v. Elodio-Benitez, 672 F.3d 584, 586 (8th Cir. 2012). We also grant counsel's motion to withdraw.
