United States of America

Plaintiff - Appellee

v.

Jermaine Terrance Brown, also known as Bo Bo

Defendant - Appellant

Appeal from United States District Court for the Eastern District of Arkansas - Central

Submitted: April 22, 2025

Filed: April 25, 2025

Before LOKEN, ERICKSON, and STRAS, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM.

Jermaine Brown appeals after the district court¹ revoked his supervised release and sentenced him to 12 months in prison, with no supervised release to follow. His counsel has moved to withdraw, and has filed a brief challenging the substantive reasonableness of the sentence.

After careful review of the record, we conclude that the district court did not abuse its discretion in imposing the revocation sentence. See United States v. Value, 835 F.3d 789, 790 (8th Cir. 2016) (standard of review). There is no indication that the court failed to consider a relevant factor, gave significant weight to an improper or irrelevant factor, or committed a clear error of judgment in weighing the relevant factors. See United States v. Larison, 432 F.3d 921, 923-24 (8th Cir. 2006) (revocation sentence may be unreasonable if district court fails to consider relevant factor, gives significant weight to improper or irrelevant factor, or commits clear error of judgment). Moreover, the revocation sentence is within the Guidelines range and accorded a presumption of substantive reasonableness on appeal. See United States v. Perkins, 526 F.3d 1107, 1110 (8th Cir. 2008).

Accordingly, we grant counsel leave to withdraw, and we affirm the judgment.
