Before BENTON, SHEPHERD, and STRAS, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM.

Missouri police officers Timothy Schiele and Michael Jennewein appeal following the interlocutory denial of qualified immunity on a Fourth Amendment claim in Geoffrey Shegog's 42 U.S.C. § 1983 action. After carefully considering the record and the parties' arguments on appeal, we dismiss the appeal for lack of jurisdiction. See 28 U.S.C. § 1291; Krein v. Norris, 250 F.3d 1184, 1187 (8th Cir. 2001). The officers did not timely appeal following the district court's¹ summary-judgment order, see Fed. R. App. P. 4(a)(1)(A); Ortiz v. Jordan, 562 U.S. 180, 188-89 (2011), and the subsequent pre-trial rulings that they now attempt to appeal are not reviewable on interlocutory appeal, see, e.g., Ultra-Precision Mfg. Ltd. v. Ford Motor Co., 338 F.3d 1353, 1358 (Fed. Cir. 2003). The district court's written order on the parties' pretrial motions did not alter or vacate its prior summary-judgment ruling, and the officers may seek further review, if necessary, following trial. See Taylor v. Carter, 960 F.2d 763, 764 (8th Cir. 1992).

Accordingly, we dismiss the appeal for lack of jurisdiction and deny, as moot, Shegog's motion to dismiss the appeal as untimely.

¹The Honorable Stephen R. Welby, United States Magistrate Judge for the Eastern District of Missouri, to whom the case was referred for final disposition by consent of the parties pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(c).
