

United States Court of Appeals
For the Eighth Circuit

No. 25-2258

United States of America

Plaintiff - Appellee

v.

Brandon Jones

Defendant - Appellant

Appeal from United States District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri - St. Louis

Submitted: July 13, 2026

Filed: July 16, 2026

[Unpublished]

Before ERICKSON, GRASZ, and STRAS, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM.

Brandon Jones appeals the sentence the district court imposed after he pled guilty to drug offenses. He challenges a condition of supervised release related to sex offender registration, arguing that he has never been convicted of a sex offense. He also argues his sentence is substantively unreasonable.

The government concedes that imposition of the condition of supervised release was erroneous. In light of that concession, we vacate the challenged condition. As to Jones's challenge to the length of his sentence, we conclude the district court did not impose a substantively unreasonable sentence. See United States v. Feemster, 572 F.3d 455, 461 (8th Cir. 2009) (en banc) (abuse of discretion review).

We vacate imposition of the challenged condition and remand with directions that the judgment be amended to remove the condition. We affirm the sentence in all other respects.
